In the Kitchen

The kitchen is the room where food is prepared and cooked. Often, food is also stored and eaten in the kitchen. Other homes have a separate room for storing food (pantry) and for eating meals (dining room). Kitchens are also used for entertaining informal guests, for holding family discussions and for doing school work.

Jim has fried eggs, bacon, toast and coffee for breakfast.	This is corn on the cob, a favorite summertime food in the United States.	From back to front: carrots, a can of spinach, a banana, a tomato, half of a grapefruit and a potato.	Some people like a sandwich with many ingredients in it.	These are called spareribs, even though they are all in one piece.
